

Description of project

I made a 30 picture photography album in which all the photos taken were of the same theme. The theme was 'small moments that are forgotten in daily life'. The 10 best photos from the 30 picture album were used to make 10 handmade postcards. The postcards fit with the theme of being forgotten because in this fast paced digital world postcards are slowly fading away and being forgotten. Therefore I thought that sending these 10 postcards to people important to me will instil value in them again for me.
